AGENDA

Wednesday, 15 February 2017

8:00 am – 3:30 pm - Wildlife Necropsy Workshop

Instructor: Dr. Karen Fox, Colorado Parks and Wildlife. The workshop will cover basic techniques in wildlife necropsy (lecture) and hands-on necropsy in the laboratory. Lunch and transportation between the hotel and lab are provided. Workshop limited to 10 participants (application required – see below).

8:30 am – 5:00 pm - Gray Wolf Conservation and Management Symposium

Sponsored and underwritten by the Turner Endangered Species Fund

- History of wolf recovery in the U.S. -- Mike Phillips, Turner Endangered Species Fund
- Yellowstone wolves: ecosystems saviors? If so, how exportable?-- Doug Smith, National Park Service
- Ecological and biodiversity implications of wolf reintroduction -- Joel Berger, Colorado State University
- Current distribution and legal status of wolves in North America -- Michael Thabault, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
- Gray wolf habitat in Colorado: biological and social characteristics -- Barry Noon, Colorado State University
- Wolves and livestock in the Northern Rockies: Implications for Colorado -- Carter Niemeyer, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (retired)
- Wolf-livestock coexistence strategies: The Wood River Wolf Project in Central Idaho – Avery Shawler, Wood River Wolf Project
- Wolf recovery, conservation, and management in Wyoming: lessons learned -- Ken Mills and Dan Thompson, Wyoming Game and Fish Department
- Hunting and trapping as tools for wolf management: Jim Hammill, Michigan DNR (retired), Iron Range Consulting & Services Inc
- Overview of wolf conflict resolution -- Stewart Breck, USDA National Wildlife Research Center, Wildlife Services
- Attitudes and values towards wolf recovery in Colorado -- Richard Reading, Okavango Research Institute, University of Botswana; Butterfly Pavilion; University of Denver
- Factors impacting human tolerance for large carnivores: insights from psychology -- Jeremy Bruskotter, Ohio State University
- Wolf/human interactions: implications for restoration -- Dave Mech, University of Minnesota
- The moral case for wolf reintroductions: Philip Cafaro, Colorado State University

6:00 pm – 9:00 pm – Social and Student-Professional Mixer, CSU Lory Student Center Ballroom

Co-hosted by Colorado State University and Western State Colorado University Student Chapters of The Wildlife Society. The social/student-professional mixer will be held at the Lory Student Center at Colorado State University (1101 Center Ave Mall, Fort Collins, CO 80521; Phone: (970) 491-6444). How to get there? A 1 mile walk from the Hilton, take the Fort Collins transit bus, drive, or catch the Hilton shuttle. Food and beverages are provided.

Thursday, 16 February 2017

8:00 am – 12:00 pm - Plenary Session: Carnivore Ecology and Management

8:15 am – Dr. Steven Buskirk, University of Wyoming – Keynote Speaker; marten@uwyo.edu
Carnivoran Ecology: an update

9:00 am – Dr. Davis Mech, University of Minnesota and USGS; mechx002@umn.edu
Natural history of grey wolves on Ellesmere Island

9:30 am – Jerry Apker, Colorado Parks and Wildlife; jerry.apker@state.co.us
Predator Management in Colorado

10:00 am – 10:30 am - BREAK

10:30 am – John Hughes, US Fish and Wildlife Service; John_hughes@fws.gov
Overview of Black-footed Ferret Recovery Efforts

11:00 am – Dr. Heather Johnson, Colorado Parks and Wildlife; heather.johnson@state.co.us
Causes, consequences and considerations for management of human-black bear conflicts: Lessons learned from research in Durango

11:30 am – Dr. John Squires, USDA Rocky Mountain Research Station, Missoula; jsquires@fs.fed.us
Characterizing habitat of Canada lynx through the lens of habitat use, functional responses, and demography

12:00 pm – 1:30 pm - Lunch and Colorado Chapter of the Wildlife Society Business Meeting

All registered meeting attendees are invited (lunch is included with meeting registration).

1:30 pm – 5:00 pm - Contributed Papers Session: Demographics and Population Monitoring

1:30 to 1:45 pm – “The birds and the bees... and the bats, butterflies, and brants: the US Fish & Wildlife I&M program details how to count them all” – Lee E. O’Brien

1:45 to 2:00 pm – “Estimating the abundance of wild horses in Central Wyoming” – Guy T. DiDonato, Ryan M. Nielson, Wallace Erickson, and Chris Wichmann

2:00 to 2:15 pm – “Acoustic monitoring methods and utility for Yellow-billed Cuckoo, Southwestern Willow Flycatcher, and Northern Leopard Frog” – Jenny Nehring

2:15 to 2:30 pm – “Lessons learned about chronic wasting disease in elk at Rocky Mountain National Park” – Nathan L. Galloway, Jenny G. Powers, Ryan J. Monello, and Margaret A. Wild

2:30 to 2:45 pm – “Hierarchical distance sampling: not your father’s distance analysis” – Trent L. McDonald, and Jason D. Carlisle

2:45 – 3:00 pm - BREAK

3:00 to 3:15 pm – “Nest Survival of bald eagles in Colorado” – Jonathan DeCoste, Reesa Yale Conrey, William Kendall, and James Gammonley

3:15 to 3:30 pm – “Effect of Douglas-fir beetle and patch size on avian presence in Douglas-fir forests in the Gunnison Basin, Colorado” – Marcel Such, Patrick Magee, Jonathan Coop

3:30 to 3:45 pm – “Occupancy of mammalian carnivores on prairie dog colonies affected by plague” – Reesa Yale Conrey, Miranda Middleon, Daniel Tripp, and James Gammonley

3:45 to 4:00 pm – “Movements of golden eagles within (into, through, and out of...) Colorado” – Brian W. Smith, April Estep, and Dale Stahlecker

4:00 to 5:00 pm - Law Enforcement Session

4:00 to 5:00 pm – “Law enforcement in wildlife management and a law enforcement case study” – Bob Thompson

6:00 – 9:00 pm - Banquet, Awards and Auction (an important way you can support CCTWS!)

Friday, 17 February 2017

8:00 am – 12:00 pm - Contributed Papers Session: Anthropogenic Impacts on Wildlife, Human-Wildlife Conflict, and Communication

8:20 am -- Welcome

8:30 to 8:45 am – “Synthesis of bat curtailment studies” – Tim Sichmeller, Jeff Gruver, Wally Erickson, David Young, and Karen Tyrell

8:45 to 9:00 am – “Pronghorn management at F.E. Warren Air Force Base” – Alex Schubert

9:00 to 9:15 am – “Power line infrastructure – bird electrocution and collision risk assessments – merging of power in North America and a changing paradigm” – Lori A. Nielsen

9:15 to 9:30 am – “Monitoring the Natural Quality of Wilderness” – Peter A. Dratch

9:30 to 9:45 am – “Distinguishing the influence of prey distribution, landscape features, and anthropogenic disturbance on predation risk” – Patrick E. Lendrum, Joseph M. Northrup, Charles R. Anderson, Jr., Glen E. Liston, Cameron L. Aldridge, Kevin R. Crooks, and George Wittemyer

9:45 to 10:00 am – “Stories of science: the role of creating narratives in relating research to the public” – Sierra J. Stevens-McGeever

BREAK (10:00 –10:20 am)

Contributed Papers Session: Strategic Conservation Planning & Implementation of Management Plans

10:20 to 10:35 am – “Ecoregional conservation strategies for Golden Eagles in the Western United States” – Brian Woodbridge, Geoffrey Bedrosian, and Hillary M. White

10:35 to 10:50 am – “Elk management in the National Park Service: two case studies in the use of public volunteers” – Jenny Powers, Rick Kahn, William Whitworth, John Mack, and Ben Bobowski

10:50 to 11:05 am – “Ungulate migrations in Wyoming: incorporating new science into wildlife policy and management” – Bob Lanka and Bill Rudd

11:05 to 11:20 am – “The influence of Greater Sage-Grouse management on Golden Eagles in the Western United States” – Jason D. Carlisle, Geoffrey Bedrosian, and Trent L. McDonald

11:20 to 11:35 am – “State-and-transition simulation modeling: a tool for assessing the interacting effects of climate, ecological processes, and management of wildlife habitat” – Brian W. Miller and Jeffrey T. Morisette

11:35 to 11:50 am – “Using landscape-scale estimates of relative electrocution risk to inform prioritization of power pole retrofits: an example with golden eagles” -- Gary E. Williams , Todd Lickfett, Brian Woodbridge, and Tracy Jones

11:50 am to 12:00 pm – Closing remarks, Student paper and poster awards

12:00 pm – 1:30 pm - Colorado Chapter of the Wildlife Society Board Meeting

POSTER SESSION – Hilton Lobby, Thursday 8:00 am. - Friday 12:00 pm

“Ten new locations of the endangered New Mexico meadow jumping mouse detected on Tribal Lands in southwestern Colorado” – Jennifer L. Zahratka, Aran S. Johnson, Erin M. Lehmer, Steven D. Fenster, and Steve L. Whiteman

“Phylogenetics of canine distemper virus (CDV) in mesocarnivores from Northern Colorado” – Darren Wostenberg, Nikki Walker, Karen Fox, Antoinette Piaggio, and Amy Gilbert

“Testing perch deterrents and supplemental perches designed to mitigate raptor electrocutions” – Michael C. Tincher and Gail E. Kratz

“Evaluation of population monitoring strategies for Greater Sage-Grouse (Centrocercus urophasianus) in Northwestern Colorado: genetic mark-recapture as an alternative to traditional lek counts” – Jessica E. Shyvers, Brett L. Walker, Sara J. Oyler-McCance, Jennifer Fike, and Barry R. Noon

“National Wildlife Disease Program Archives” – Kylie Schumacher

“Effects of source population and release strategy on survival and dispersal of translocated Scaled Quail in Texas” – Rebekah E. Ruzicka, Dale Rollins, and Paul F. Doherty, Jr.

“Calcium increases reproductive success in nesting Tree Swallows” – Marina Rodriguez, Kathryn P. Huyvaert, and Paul F. Doherty, Jr.

“Swarming surveys in Colorado: standardized sampling and evaluation as a potential vector for the transmission of white-nose syndrome in bats” – Daniel Neubaum, Jeremy Siemers, and Kirk Navo

“Spatial patterns of habitat use by incubating mountain plovers in a mixed habitat and ownership landscape” – Tyler Michels, Kristen Philbrook, Angela Dwyer, and Michael B. Wunder

“Shorebird use of military lands in interior Alaska” – Ellen Martin, Kim Jochum, Calvin Bagley, and Paul F. Doherty, Jr.

“Impact of human recreation on temporal activity of American black bears” – Elizabeth Hartney and Brian Peterson

“Full life cycle monitoring of burrowing owls (Athene cunicularia) in southeastern Colorado” – Clark D. Jones and Courtney J. Conway

“The USFWS Western golden eagle team: an overview” – Gary E. Williams, Brian Woodbridge, Todd Lickfett, and Geoffrey Bedrosian
