Commission on November 14, 2017 on the proposed Foxtail Wind Project in Dickey County, PU-17-284. While the Chapter is generally supportive of the wind industry as a renewable energy source that can be produced locally, they emphasized that scientific evidence indicates that wind facilities have detrimental impacts to wildlife and the Chapter therefore is most supportive of wind facilities that are placed in habitats of limited conservation value to wildlife, such as cropland in predominantly agricultural landscapes. CAC Contact: Rick Warhurst

Federal Updates

Farm Bill moves towards conference committee – The House successfully passed their version 2018 Farm Bill after their first vote in late May ended with the legislation failing due in large part to members withholding support in order to extract a vote on immigration legislation. The new vote fell largely on partisan lines, with 20 Republicans voting against it and no Democrats voting for it. The Senate passed their version of the Farm Bill on June 28, 2018, with a strongly bipartisan vote of 86-11. The effort will now move to conference committee to work out the differences between the two bills.

Senate Appropriations Committee passes FY2019 Interior spending package – The Senate Appropriations Committee moved the FY2019 Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies spending package to the Senate floor for an eventual vote. The full committee markup session resulted in the adoption of only one amendment that directs the Interior Department and Forest Service to maintain updated five-year deferred maintenance plans. This follows the House Appropriations Committee, which passed their Interior appropriations bill in mid-June. Significant differences exist between the two pieces of legislation. A conference committee will be assembled to resolve differences if the House and Senate versions pass both chambers. Staff Contact: Caroline Murphy
