Dear Senator,

On behalf of the undersigned organizations and the millions of members we represent nationwide, we are writing to ask you to support the Senate Resolution designating May 21st, 2010 as "Endangered Species Day."

Endangered Species Day raises awareness about the importance of protecting our nation's wildlife, fish and plants on the brink of extinction. It provides an opportunity for schools, libraries, museums, zoos, botanical gardens, parks, wildlife refuges, agencies, businesses, community groups and conservation organizations to educate the public about the importance of protecting endangered species and highlight the everyday actions that individuals and groups can take to help protect our nation's wildlife, fish and plants. With approximately 1,925 species worldwide now listed as threatened and endangered, and thousands more threatened with extinction unless they are protected, every such public education effort is greatly needed.

For several previous years, the United States Senate has passed the Endangered Species Day resolution. In 2009, over one hundred events were held across the country to highlight endangered species success stories.

We believe that we have a responsibility to protect wildlife, plants and fish that are on the brink of extinction. We owe it to our children and grandchildren to be good stewards of the environment and leave behind a legacy of protecting endangered species and the special places they call home. With your help, we can make Endangered Species Day a great success. Thank you for your support of this important issue.

Sincerely,
