

Call for Nominations For the Outstanding Undergraduate Student Award Presented by the SC Chapter of The Wildlife Society

This award is presented to an undergraduate student pursuing a degree from a 2- or 4-year degree program in wildlife management or wildlife biology in the State. To be considered for this award the student has to be nominated by a member of the Chapter. The Chapter's Awards Committee will review the nominations and determine the recipient. The recipient will be recognized at the Chapter's annual meeting. The recipient will receive a plaque and a check for $100.

Criteria used to select the recipient include:

1. Cumulative grade point average through last semester
2. Progress toward TWS certification
3. Record of professional involvement, including work experience

Any student currently enrolled in an undergraduate degree program or who graduated in calendar year 2018/2019 can be considered for this position.

If you have worked closely with or otherwise know an outstanding student, please consider nominating her/him for this award—it is a great reward for their hard work! It is not necessary to include the student's grade point average or academic record with your nominating letter (the Awards Committee can track down this information).
