2020 Meeting Theme

“Do you hear what I hear?” – Emergent Challenges and Opportunities in the Field of Wildlife Management

At the 2020 CCTWS Annual Meeting our plenary session will address challenges and opportunities of emergent technologies (such as GIS, GPS, bioacoustic methods, genetic techniques) and emergent wildlife issues (such as wildlife disease, climate change, and wildlife funding innovations). In addition, we will have two workshops, an IGNITE session, a poster session, a photo contest, a contributed papers session, a networking event, and our annual banquet with professional awards and a wildlife auction. Be sure to save the dates and look for updates on lodging and registration details in the upcoming newsletter and on our webpage.

Graphic Design Contest

The Colorado Chapter needs your help! We are looking for someone to create a graphic representation of the 2020 Meeting Theme.

Prizes: Your choice of a $100 gift card or free meeting registration at the annual meeting.

This contest is open to all CCTWS members. The deadline for submissions is September 1st, 2019. Submissions will be judged by CCTWS board members. If a graphic is chosen by the board, that contestant will receive their choice of a $100 gift card or free meeting registration at the annual meeting. Please send entries to fletcher@pinyon-env.com.

Note to Federal Employees

It is not too early to plan for meeting participation and travel. Helpful tips for obtaining permission to participate:

1. Give a talk, 5-minute IGNITE presentation, or present a poster.
2. Organize a breakout session during the meeting for your agency colleagues (let us know if you are interested so we can accommodate you with a room).
3. Use language like meeting (not conference) and networking (not social).
4. Plan well in advance.
5. We won't know the exact registration fees for a while, but we anticipate the maximum registration fee would be $250.
