

Wyoming Student Chapter of The Wildlife Society – A Brief Update by Ruby Jenco

Since all the officers of the Student Chapter of TWS have been enjoying our well-deserved break after a stressful semester, we do not necessarily have plans for the spring semester off the ground yet. The new officers and I have not officially met, but we are excited to work together and try to create a strong community of wildlifers on campus during these difficult times. We want to bring new ideas to the Chapter to try and make it as engaging as we can during the pandemic. The University of Wyoming Student Chapter of TWS is always looking for mentors to speak or share with us a bit about their profession, and since our meetings are predominantly online right now, we would love to meet with wildlifers from across the state and country! If any TWS mentors are interested in working with our Student Chapter, they are welcome to contact me via email (rjenco@uwyo.edu).
