

Casey Setash is a third year PhD student at CSU studying waterfowl ecology in relation to flood-irrigated agriculture in North Park. She also did her master's at CSU on cinnamon teal in the San Luis Valley. Hailing from Pennsylvania originally, Casey is enjoying her time out west and spend what free time she has hiking, duck hunting, crafting, and brewing beer.