

19th (Virtual) Wildlife Damage Management Conference – April 19-22, 2021

A Call for Abstracts and information on Registration for the biennial 19th WDM Conference is available at <https://conference.usu.edu/wildlife-damage-management/>.

The Call for Abstracts is for presentations on management, research, and education on any topic related to wildlife damage management. Presentations will be selected based on a series of plenary and concurrent sessions. Presentations on preliminary results, concepts, and other related topics may be included in a poster session. Abstracts are due February 28, 2021 or until all sessions are filled.

Due to the pandemic, presentations will be prerecorded and posted online. Speakers will be requested to participate in live online Q&A and/or panel discussions in their associated sessions. We request that presentations be captured forever in extended abstracts or full scientific papers published in a peer-edited Conference Proceedings.

Conference Sponsors and Commercial Exhibitors are welcome. Please visit the Conference website for information or contact Scott Hygnstrom (shygnstr@uwsp.edu) for more details.

19TH WILDLIFE DAMAGE MANAGEMENT (VIRTUAL) CONFERENCE

“Forward - Dealing with Challenges of Human-Wildlife Conflicts in the Future”

April 19 - 22, 2021

Call For Abstracts and Registration
Now Open!

Register and submit abstracts now at
<https://conference.usu.edu/wildlife-damage-management/>

The Wildlife Damage Management Working Group (WDMWG) of The Wildlife Society promotes understanding of managing human-wildlife conflicts and provides professionals opportunities to advance skills and knowledge of wildlife damage management practices.

For over 25 years, the WDMWG biennial national conference has played a vital role in disseminating the latest science in wildlife damage management. We welcome you to the 19th installment of our efforts!

Conference Features:

Virtual Field Trips across Wisconsin

A live on-line social

Commercial Exhibits

Plenary sessions

Special topic sessions

Panel Discussions

Live Q&A with Presenters

We will “see” you this April as we move FORWARD!

Hosted by:

Wildlife Damage Management
Working Group of The Wildlife Society

Wisconsin Center for Wildlife
College of Natural Resources
University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point

Forest and Wildlife Ecology
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

BERRYMAN INSTITUTE
Resolving Human-Wildlife Conflicts